DISCLAIMER

I, the undersigned _____ participant in the French Freeride Qualifier Vars competition taking place in Vars on March 23th or 24th, 2019, waive any future claim against FWT Management SA and Evolution2 Vars (SARL SPOAS) their director(s), their employees and other auxiliaries, mountain guides, agents and representatives for any bodily injury, injury to bodily integrity, pecuniary or non-pecuniary damage and for any prejudice, which may be occasioned by participation in the above-mentioned event, whatever the cause - including fault or negligence - except in the case of fraud or serious misconduct. The undersigned agrees, as a consequence of the foregoing and in accordance with the following compromissory clause, not to bring legal action and undertakes not to be a party in a criminal case against FWT Management SA and Evolution2 Vars (SARL SPOAS), organizers of the event and its auxiliaries, nor to challenge - to the same extent - any contracting parties. The signatory is aware that the event he has entered is a high-risk competition and he alone must judge his ability to compete safely based solely on his own assessment of the risks and dangers resulting from their participation. The signatory expressly declares that by his decision to participate he consents to the risks inherent in the event, that he recognises, fully understands and appreciates those risks based on the quality of his ability as a snowboarder / skier and his experience the mountain. In particular the signatory (competitor) declares that by participating he has made a personal assessment of the snow conditions in the competition area and believes them to satisfactory. The signatory expressly declares that he is aware that any fall is likely to lead to grave injuries and/or death. Consequently, the signatory is made aware of the fact that he can at any time - on the basis of his own risk assessment – waive without prejudice his participation in the event. FWT Management SA and Evolution2 Vras (Sarl SPOAS) undertake to treat any signatory who withdraws in the same way as competing participants. The declared signatories must be aware that the inherent risk in such an event are only partially controllable by the organiser and that particular risks cannot be excluded, irrespective of measures taken by the organiser. The undersigned should particularly note and be attentive to the following: Avalanches: They can occur frequently in mountainous areas and competition areas. These are natural phenomena occurring when the mountain face is particularly steep and the snow layer is thick. They are also affected by the changes in weather, the instability of the mountain face and the snowpack. Snowfall: Snowfall can conceal many rocks just below the surface of the snow causing the competitor to fall resulting in injuries. Helicopter transport: The risks of such transport may be increased in competition areas and certain meteorological conditions, especially in winter . Weather Conditions: They can vary from one extreme to another and are subject to rapid and unpredictable changes. The Signatory recognises that the competitor's physical condition is such that he can participate in the competition, free from any pre-existing problem that could affect his participation. The signatory recognizes that the competitor is a specialist in extreme snowboarding / skiing, that he is able to descend mountain faces with an incline greater than 45 degrees and which can have fatal consequences in the event of a fall and, further, that he is able to appreciate for himself the risks resulting from participating.

Arbitration clause: The signatories undertake to introduce no legal action and submit to arbitration in the Court of First Instance for any dispute resulting from the application of this release of liability and for any damage resulting from a fraud or serious misconduct and therefore asks its agents, representatives and heirs to submit to arbitration as aforesaid. The seat of this Tribunal is at Gap. Only French law is applicable. The competitor finally declares to be at least 18 years old, to have read and understood the terms of this release before signing it and accepts that it applies by right to his heirs, his family, his executors and administrators testamentaries and his successors.
